THE SENATE RESOLUTION [illegible]

WASHINGTON, March 18.—In executive session of the senate the injunction of secrecy was removed from the following bill, the one introduced by Edmunds last Friday and brought by the senate yesterday:

WHEREAS, The senate of the United States has learned that the government of the [illegible] Guatemala has set on foot an armed [illegible] of the republic of Nicaragua, Costa Rica and San Salvador with the professed object of consolidating into one government the republics of Central America by force of arms and against the wishes of the several republics concerned; and

WHEREAS, There is pending between the United States and the republic of Nicaragua a treaty providing for the construction of an interoceanic canal across the continent and republic of Nicaragua for the benefit of all the Central American republics as well as the United States, which treaty it is understood the republic of Nicaragua has ratified; therefore, be it

Resolved, As the judgment of the senate that in view of the special and important interests of the United States in conjunction with those of the republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica in interoceanic transit across the isthmus, the proposed invasion of the territory of Nicaragua or Costa Rica by the forces of Guatemala, under the circumstances and with the purposes before stated, is regarded by the senate and ought to be treated by the United States as an act of unfriendliness and as a hostile interference with rights of the United States and of the republics of Nicaragua and Costa Rica in respect to said matter.

THE OFFICES SEEK THE MEN.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Martin Stanburg Montgomery, who was nominated to-day commissioner of patents, is a lawyer of good standing and large practice at Lansing, Michigan. The president knew his qualifications and this morning requested a friend to telegraph him and ask him if he would serve the administration as patent commissioner. This was the first suggestion he had of the matter. His answer was: "I am a candidate for no office, but my services are at the command of President Cleveland." His name was immediately transmitted to the senate. Montgomery was the attorney selected by the homesteaders of Michigan to represent them before congressional committees in the Michigan land grab case, and his argument has created a very favorable opinion of his abilities.

Malcom Hay, nominated first assistant postmaster general, is a prominent lawyer of Pittsburg. He was a member of the last constitutional convention of Pennsylvania and for a number of years has been prominently identified with the democratic party of his state. He was not a candidate for the position to which nominated, and was endorsed for it by no one. The president knew his reputation and telegraphed him to come here, and on his arrival this morning requested him to take the place of first assistant postmaster general. He acceded, and within an hour his name was sent to the senate by the president.

THE OKLAHOMA QUESTION.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The Oklahoma question is being further considered by the administration and General Weaver and Hon. Sidney Clark, representing settlers here, are earnestly urging immediate action. It is probable a conclusion will be reached in a very short time, possibly to-morrow, as the situation in southern Kansas is considered critical. Information that reached here to-night shows that the settlers are very much exasperated because cattlemen claim that the action of the government leaves them in possession of Oklahoma and Indian territory. Representatives of the settlers here understand the proclamation to require the removal of all cattle syndicates.

IN RELATION TO PENSION APPLICATIONS.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Commissioner Black has asked Governor Martin, of Kansas, in case county clerks of that state are not clerks of courts of record, promptly to notify them not to acknowledge any more pension declarations of Kansas soldiers, but to give notice to applicants that will enable them to go before the proper officers and execute proper declarations.

A MISSOURIAN APPOINTED.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Hon. A. Newman of Missouri has been appointed special agent of the labor bureau. Newman was formerly chief of the Missouri bureau of labor statistics and is regarded as being peculiarly well fitted for the duties of his new position, in which he is required to make a thorough investigation of the condition of the laboring classes.

CLEVELAND'S BIRTHDAY.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—President Cleveland is 48 years old to-day, and most of his callers took occasion to congratulate him. A little child to whom the president had been particularly kind a few days since sent him a handsome bouquet of violets with her card, wishing him many happy returns of the day.

STANFORD NOT IN POOR HEALTH.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—In answer to various statements concerning the ill health of Senator Stanford, an intimate friend of that gentleman says emphatically that he is in excellent health and thoroughly well equipped for his public duties.

THE HAZEN COURT-MARTIAL.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Hazen concluded his testimony before the court-martial to-day, and argument will commence to-morrow.

CONFIRMATION.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The senate confirmed Joseph S. Miller commissioner of internal revenue.

EASTERN NEWS ITEMS

THE CATTLE INTERESTS OF TEXAS.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.—Amos T. Atwater, secretary of the National Cattle and Horse Growers' Association, who has been making a tour of Texas in the interest of that association, returned to-day. He reports great diversity of opinion regarding losses sustained by cattlemen of Texas during the past winter, they being variously placed at from 1 to 10 per cent. His own estimate is 3 to 5 per cent. The winter was the most severe ever known in Texas, and the drifting of cattle was very great. It is estimated that fully 150,000 cattle drifted southward and are now in the vicinity of Devil's river and in the Pecos river country. Round up parties have already been started for that vicinity, but owing to the poor condition of the cattle it will require much time and careful driving to bring them back.

The closing of the old trail to the north will compel owners to throw much of their surplus stock on the market this season, which will no doubt depress the price of beef. There is no question that the Texas ranges are overstocked, and ranchmen will be obliged to get rid of large numbers of cows, two-year-olds and yearlings to relieve the burden, and these will have mainly to go to market. Wyoming and the northwest will receive cattle which come there by rail, but not otherwise, and the closing of the trail will close this outlet for Texas cattle. Last year at this time over a million dollars worth of contracts were held by Texas ranchmen, but this year not a dollar.

Mr. Atwater thinks the day of free grazing in Texas about over. In the near future stock raisers will have to pasture their herds on their own lands and cultivate ground enough for fodder for many of their cattle through the winter.

Mr. Atwater attended all meetings of cattle associations held while he was in the state, and was assured that the next national convention will be very largely attended. One good result already noticed as growing out of the convention last year is that the chief of the bureau of statistics is gathering statistics in regard to cattle and ranges. Cattle men generally seemed to be hopeful of better times and live on the qui vive for everything new in connection with their industry.

GENERAL GRANT'S CONDITION.

NEW YORK, March 18.—General Grant went to sleep between 10 and 11 last night, after a hypodermic injection of morphine. He slept well during the night and only awoke twice. He is feeling better this morning after last night's rest. Mrs. Sartoris is expected to arrive to-morrow.

Dr. Douglas left General Grant at 11:30 to-night. He said: "General Grant retired at 11:30 last night and slept continuously for four hours. He then arose, gargled his throat, and retired to bed again and slept an hour after which his rest was intermittent. He rose at 10 A. M. He had slept about eight hours. He is bright this evening. His voice is strong, he took food, his pulse is normal and he suffered little if any pain. Dr. Shrady met me to-day at the house. There has been no increase of the difficulty the last three days, and it seems to have been arrested."

THE SITUATION AT SPRINGFIELD.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., March 18.—It is generally conceded here to-night that there will be a vote taken to-morrow in the house for senator, but it will be one sided. The democrats are marshalling their forces and expect to put in a solid front, while the republicans do not. The consequence will be that the latter will not vote. This evening an associated press reporter asked General Logan what he thought of the outlook to-morrow, and he replied he could not then tell as there were six or eight republicans away and he was not sure that they would be back to-morrow in time to vote. The democrats have made the assertion that a senator would be elected to-morrow, but it is not probable.

INSURANCE MEN FEAR WAR.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The Tribune says: Notwithstanding the announcement by Gladstone last Friday that a specified agreement had been made with Russia, which would probably avert a conflict between the two nations for the mastery of Central Asia, marine insurance people do not feel that the affair is ended. They are inclined to the belief that the announcement was simply a flash, and shippers seem to agree with them, as many of them have applied for extra risks on cargoes to China and Japan. [illegible] Railway Mail Service Mutual Benefit Association met here to-day. The following amendment to the by-laws was adopted: The amount to be paid beneficiaries of deceased members shall be the amount collected within sixty days from an assessment of $1 upon each member in good standing on the date that proofs of death are received by the society, less $110 to cover costs of collection, provided that such death benefit shall not exceed the sum of $3,000, and provided further that the sixty days shall be computed from the date the assessment notice is issued [illegible] $1,000 [illegible]

AT THE [illegible]

ARKANSAS CITY, Ks., March 18.—Small parties of boomers still continue to arrive at the camp of the Oklahoma boomers, and there seems a determination to hold their ground until further action is taken by the government. Reports are arriving of restlessness among the Cheyenne Indians near Fort Reno. Two ranchmen direct from that locality to-night report that the Indians are gradually, however, [illegible] at various points.

ANOTHER STRIKE SUCCESSFUL.

DALLAS, Tex., March 18.—On the termination of the strike here, which the employes who were suspended when the freight traffic stopped refused to return to work unless the rate of $1.50 a day, reduced to $1 a day last September, was restored. The company to-day succumbed to the demand and the men resumed work.

A LONG STRIKE ENDED.

COLUMBUS, O., March 18.—The convention of striking miners at Straitsville, with delegates from the Hocking valley mines, decided to-day to accept fifty cents per ton. This ends the strike begun last April.

THE IMMIGRATION CONVENTION.

NEW ORLEANS, March 18.—The immigration convention has voted to merge the two south immigration societies. California is included in the territory.

JAY GOULD ARRIVES FROM HAVANA.

CHARLESTON, March 18.—The steam yacht Atlanta, Jay Gould and family on board, arrived to-day from Havana. She made the run in forty hours.

SHOCK OF EARTHQUAKE.

CONCORD, N. H., March 18.—A distinct shock of earthquake was felt in this vicinity a few minutes past 12 (noon) to-day.

M'CAFFREY AND SULLIVAN WILL FIGHT.

PHILADELPHIA, March 18.—McCaffrey and Sullivan signed articles to-day to fight with gloves here the evening of April 2.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—Pacific coast: Fair weather, followed in the North Pacific coast region by local rains.

CRIMINAL CALENDAR.

THE SPRINGER TRAGEDY.

SPRINGER, N. M., March 18.—By order of President Cleveland a detachment of the Tenth infantry arrived this afternoon and escorted to Las Vegas, for safe keeping, besieged Officers Lee, Kimberly and Ellsenbaugh, slayers of the three desperadoes Rogers, Curry and "Red River Tom," in their attack on officers in the jail Monday last. While many of the cowboy avengers left town last night, many remained, determined to avenge the death of their comrades as soon as the officers made their appearance. Of this the latter were advised, and hence the request of the governor for a military escort out of town. On arrival of the train the inhabitants flocked to the housetops and the greatest excitement prevailed. It was expected that an attack would be made on the soldiers and an attempt made to seize the officers and lynch them. No demonstration was made, however, and the train arrived at Las Vegas at 8 this evening. Desperado Curry was the same who shot and killed the actor Porter some years ago at Marshall, Texas, while the latter was trying to shield some ladies from insult.

ANOTHER SECRET CONCLAVE UNEARTHED.

NEW YORK, March 18.—According to the Sun's Dallas, Texas, correspondent, another secret conclave similar to the one in Florida has been unearthed. Its object seems to be to kill objectionable persons. The friend of a murdered man joined the gang, and after mastering all the secrets of the concern informed the authorities. Twenty-three arrests were made, including the sheriff and seven deputies. Three men have been murdered so far, and others have been marked.

TWO STRIKERS SENT TO JAIL.

ST. LOUIS, March 18.—Ed Doolittle and John S. Kolnbach, the two railroad strikers arrested at Hannibal, Mo., a few days ago by United States Marshal Conzins for interference with the operation of the Wabash railway, had a hearing to-day before Judge Brewer of the United States circuit court and were each sentenced to sixty days in jail.

RAILROAD NOTES.

THE O. R. & N.

NEW YORK, March 18.—The desirability of giving up the present management is again being actively discussed by Oregon Railway and Navigation stockholders in Boston. Two suggestions find supporters. One is that the road be leased to the Northern Pacific alone, the other that it be leased to the Northern Pacific and the Union Pacific jointly. Those actively favoring the dual lease by the Northern and Union Pacific include many of the Oregon Railway and Navigation directors, also Wm. Endicott, holder of 25,000 shares of Oregon Railway and Navigation. President Adams is reported favorable to the arrangement. Smaller Boston holders of Oregon Railway and Navigation argue that the Union Pacific should be included in the arrangement, because one Boston property should help another wherever possible, in order to further the general interests of the city.

THE TRANSCONTINENTAL ASSOCIATION.

NEW YORK, March 18.—A California freight agent said this morning: "It is no use denying that the affairs of the Transcontinental association are in a pretty critical condition. It meets in Denver on the 20th, and the first step will be to bring about complete restoration of rates, as cutting has been very unsatisfactory. Both the larger dealers here and on the Pacific coast hang back, as they want to see how low rates are going to be, so that they can ship to light at bottom figures."

NOTABLE DEAD.

SUSAN WARNER, THE NOVELIST.

NEWBURG, N. Y., March 18.—Susan Warner, the novelist, is dead, aged 68.

SALEM NOTES.

SALEM, March 18.

The city council last evening fixed the saloon license at $350 per annum.

Frank E. Parmenter, one of our citizens highly esteemed and respected, is lying very low with quick consumption. He had four severe hemorrhages yesterday and no hopes are entertained of his recovery.

Articles were filed yesterday incorporating the Oregon Mining Development company with J. D. Brown, A. J. Kane and C. F. Burrows as incorporators. Capital stock $50,000 and principal office located at Portland. Also Hubbard lodge No. 76, I. O. O. F., with J. A. Dodge, I. C. Crawford and John Illig as trustees thereof.

The formal engagement of Mr. Louis Kuhn, manager of the Northwestern foundry of this city, to Miss Louise Mansfield, an accomplished and handsome young lady of San Francisco, is announced. Congratulatory dispatches fairly deluged the prospective benedict yesterday, and his friends here were profuse in their congratulations.

Carpenters have commenced the erection of the scaffold for the coming execution of Drake, the colored murderer. It is located on the east side of the court house building, just north of the main entrance, and is a new sensation for Salemites. It will of course be surrounded by a high board fence and the execution will be witnessed by but a few. Drake has evidently about surrendered hope of commutation, and is as far as possible resigned to his fate. Rumor asserts that he will make a full statement of his case either to-day or to-morrow for the benefit of the public. He claims his innocence of the crime and will now tell all he knows in connection with the commission of the crime of which he stands convicted. The governor, Rev. T. L. Eliot and Rev. R. W. Hill have examined into the petitions presented asking for commutation, but the former has not as yet shown the indication of any interference with the process of law.

INDIAN KILLED AND BODY STOLEN.

WALLA WALLA, March 18.—Dr. Kevlor, coroner, went to Waitsburg Tuesday to hold an inquest on the body of an Indian who was recently killed by Fred Rolf, but found some one had stolen and hid the body, it is supposed to prevent any inquest. The dead Indian and another visited Rolf's ranch and asked for matches and acted so roughly that Rolf and his hired man retreated to the cabin and barricaded the door. On the Indians leaving Rolf obtained assistance and a shotgun and went in pursuit, overtaking the Indians who showed fight. Some one said "shoot," and Rolf fired, killing the Indian. The other Indian he knocked off his horse with the gun and then rode to Waitsburg and delivered himself up. At the preliminary examination he was bound over in the sum of $500 and the surviving Indian was sent to Walla Walla county jail.

THREE BODIES RECOVERED.

BOZEMAN, March 18.—James Pomeroy and party, which went up Bridger canyon to rescue the Schlassman party, buried in a snow avalanche, returned to-day with the bodies of Schlassman, one of the Hazzard brothers and P. J. Smith. The other Hazzard could not be found. The slide had crushed in the cabin and all were badly crushed. They were dug out of eight feet of snow with timber across their bodies. The corpses were hauled by hand through a deep snow five miles to where horses could be used. The parties must have been dead three weeks. All were buried this afternoon.

IN SEARCH OF A GOLD THIEF.

TOMBSTONE, March 18.—Superintendent E. B. Olcott of the St. Helena mine, Las Delicias, Sonora, arrived to-day in search of J. W. Smith, his confidential clerk, who absconded on the 9th of the month with a gold bar valued at $13,000 which he was conveying to Hermosillo. Smith left the mine with the bar for Hermosillo and striking the railroad at Zamora, about 10 miles distant, shaved his moustache, changed his clothes and boarded the train for Nogales, and has not been seen or heard of since. The company offer $1,000 reward for the capture of the thief and return of the bullion.

A TERRIBLE COLLIERY DISASTER.

BERLIN, March 18.—Two hundred and seventeen miners were imprisoned by an explosion of fire damp in a colliery at Camphausen, near Saarbruck, in Rhenish Prussia, this morning and at the latest hour this afternoon but seventeen had been rescued. It is feared most of the others are suffocated. Latest reports from the colliery disaster at Camphausen state that ninety-eight bodies have been recovered and 103 men and boys remain unaccounted for. It is almost certain that all now in the mine must be dead, as the main shaft and air apparatus were destroyed by the explosion.

FUN AT THE CAPITAL

A MAN WHO EXPECTS TO BE INSPECTOR OF PORK AT JERUSALEM.

WASHINGTON, March 12.—A great deal of fun is made at the expense of the Missouri delegates, who are here in large numbers anxious to secure anything from a local postoffice to the English mission. Thus far they have not received much encouragement, but they hold sessions nightly at which all the principal offices under the government are parceled out among them. News has been received here from Sedalia and Kansas City that the men who have come from the central and western sections of the state do not represent the true democracy of Missouri, and that a delegation of fifty or more representative citizens will be here soon to oppose all the candidates who are now being pressed. This information has made some of the delegates very nervous. A belated man of the Missouri colony who arrived to-day was Colonel Newman, a granger from the interior, whose primitive ways attracted attention. He was soon informed as to the state of the foreign appointments that had been made up and was told that he had better see Senator Vest and get on the list. Mr. Vest turned him over to a waggish member of the delegation, who offered to see the president and get the colonel fixed. The false friend disappeared around the corner and turned up in an hour with the story that he had seen the president, that Cleveland had heard of the colonel and was sorry he had not come sooner, as the first class missions to England, France, Germany, Russia, etc., had been spoken for. If the colonel would accept, however, he would nominate him for the best thing there was left, the inspector of pork at Jerusalem. The colonel said he would feel highly honored with the appointment, and he is probably the one man of the delegation who really feels that he has a sure thing.

FEARS THAT BLAINE MAY CAPTURE THE ADMINISTRATION.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—The democrats are howling because they fear that Blaine is about capturing the administration. They were much surprised to learn that Cleveland requested Blaine to call on him yesterday. The meeting between the two gentlemen was a hearty one, each shaking the other by the hand with a warm grasp. They were closeted together nearly an hour, and when Mr. Blaine came out the president accompanied him to the door and gave him a cordial invitation to visit the executive mansion frequently. This afternoon at Miss Cleveland's reception, Mrs. Blaine was present. She was accompanied by her son Walker and her daughter Miss Margaret Blaine. Miss Cleveland had never met either of them before, and the color came to her face when Mrs. Blaine was presented. Miss Cleveland made their short stay at the White house very pleasant, paying them the most distinguished attention. Soon after the Blaines left Mrs. Logan passed in and was presented. The calls of Mrs. Blaine and Mrs. Logan were the events of the afternoon and are the subject of considerable talk in political circles to-night. Blaine is to give a dinner to Cleveland some evening next week.

COLD COMFORT FOR THE ARMY OF OFFICE SEEKERS.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—Ex-Congressman Stevenson was closeted for over half an hour this afternoon with Postmaster General Vilas. It is not known why his nomination of a first assistant postmaster general hangs fire. Colonel Vilas when asked about the matter said there was nothing to be made public in regard to it yet. In regard to the New York postmaster he said nothing had been done. "You may say for me," said Colonel Vilas, "that I consider it my first aim and duty to become fully acquainted with the department before any important changes are to be made. The department must be thoroughly looked over before outside questions can be taken up. This does not signify that any changes are necessarily to be made in the present methods, and none will be made unless it is quite apparent that they are needed. The department will go right along very much as it has gone until I have made myself familiar with every branch of it. Meantime such vacancies as occur will be filled either by appointment by the president or by myself, but no official who is honest, faithful and attentive to his duties will be turned out to afford places for those who have claims."

THE PENSION BUREAU.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—It is probable that at the next session of congress a bill will be passed to transfer the pension bureau from the interior to the war department. The president will recommend this change in his annual message and the democrats in the house and senate will almost unanimously support it. Under the present condition of affairs the secretary of the interior has the Indian, pension, patent and land business of the government in charge. This work is considered to be entirely too heavy for any one individual to properly supervise. In making a transfer of the pension bureau to the war department the secretary of war will have immediate supervision of the system, and it is suggested that officers of the army, whenever practicable, shall be detailed to attend to pension business in the different parts of the country. The records most in demand for the adjustment of pension cases are now in the war department in the surgeon general's office.

IS IT TO MAKE ROOM FOR DEMOCRATS?

WASHINGTON, March 18.—The second week of the new administration has closed with satisfaction to everybody but the office seekers. They are dissatisfied because removals have not been made by wholesale to find places for new-comers. Dismissals so far have been put on the ground mainly that there was no need of so many employes. Secretary Manning is credited with saying that taking the treasury department as a whole five clerks have heretofore been employed to do the work two could just as well perform, and he wants to get rid of the other three who he says are in the way. If no appointments are made to fill the vacancies caused by dismissals it will be an earnest of the reform intentions of the new administration. There is a very strong impression, however, that more appointments will be made in due course of time with more secrecy than now attends removals.

THE NEW YORK POSTMASTERSHIP.

WASHINGTON, March 18.—It is gossip outside the postoffice department that Postmaster Pearson will be allowed to remain in, probably till next fall—at least it is authoratively stated that the president will not appoint a successor to take the office on the 22d inst., when his commission expires. Pearson will stay in on the understanding that when the administration desires its own man there he will voluntarily retire. This will relieve the administration of criticism from the mugwumps, who cannot complain if their man resigns on his own accord and Mr. Cleveland cannot be blamed for putting in a democrat who will be in harmony with his administration.

ONE MAN WHO WILL HAVE TO GO.

WASHINGTON, March 14.—As soon as the new administration gets through the rush of reform it will look about for heads to fall. That of Major Powell, director of the United States geological survey bureau, will be the first chalked for the block. He is a popular man in the bureau, a good scientist and notably successful organizer. The difficulty is that his organizing faculty let itself loose last fall in some excellent work for Blaine.

IMMIGRATION MATTERS.

Why Southern Oregon is Getting Accessions to Population

What One Number of the "Oregonian" did in Iowa—A Disgusted Missourian—The Umatilla Reservation

The fact as has been published in these columns, that 80 per cent of the immigrants arriving in this city and calling at the rooms of the Oregon immigration board are ticketed to southern Oregon, appears to have created an apprehension in the minds of people in other parts of the state that the board was using undue influence in behalf of the former section. An inquiry of the secretary elicits the information that the credit of the tide of immigration to southern Oregon belongs to a prompt and vigorous effort made by the people there to bring prominently and practically before the intending settlers the offerings of that section of our state. Some time ago a few of the enterprising citizens "chipped in" and published a pamphlet descriptive of the Rogue river valley, and did some advertising of their country in the eastern states. To-day in the large accessions to the population of southern Oregon, these thrifty people are reaping the legitimate fruits of their effort. Immigrants coming from Iowa, Wisconsin, Illinois, Nebraska and California inform the secretary that they have "read up" southern Oregon, and have made up their minds to go there. It is no more the business of the board to dissuade people from going to southern Oregon than it is for it to endeavor to induce people to locate at any particular point. The board furnishes information relative to all parts of the state and aids alike all localities. By request the board makes a careful distribution of the books descriptive of southern Oregon, but it stands ready to do the same service for any other locality or any county in the state. If the people of western Oregon counties are desirous of attracting some of the immigrants now coming or those to come they will best accomplish that end by publishing a small pamphlet, giving an accurate and trustworthy description of that county or locality, and forwarding a large share of such books to the board for distribution. An effort of this kind and one costing but a trifle is proving of great benefit to southern Oregon. The large per centage of those going to that part of the state have means for the purchase of farms or investment in business enterprises, and while the immediate results are good the ultimate will be still greater and more permanent. A hint in time, etc.

On Monday the secretary of the board was furnished with another illustration of the power of printer's ink. Some time early in January a resident of Iowa forwarded a letter to the board, asking for information about Oregon. The secretary sent him a New Year edition of THE OREGONIAN. On Monday Mr. Kilpatrick, the gentleman in question, accompanied by ten of his neighbors, was at the board rooms and told the secretary that when that OREGONIAN came to hand his neighbors gathered into "reading bees" and proceeded to abstract all the information about Oregon. The news of that OREGONIAN widened out until people came for ten miles to read or hear it read, and this sort of thing went on until it was literally worn out. The result of that reading, so far, is eleven enterprising, well-to-do people added to our population, and a score or more to follow.

The same party tells a good one about a Missourian who joined the party at Omaha. On leaving that point he said that the moment he saw a hickory tree he would get off and proceed to buy a farm. He arrived in this city on Saturday without seeing that sort of a tree. At supper a resident told him that there wasn't a hickory tree in Oregon. That settled it. Sunday morning he bought a ticket and started for Missouri.

The fact that the government has decided to sell a portion of the Umatilla reservation has set the land sharks to work in the attempt to circumvent the plans of Uncle Sam and get possession of that choice location at a nominal figure. It has come to the knowledge of the board that an East Portland shark of this description has been endeavoring to make a proxy bargain with a "hard-up" individual, through which said shark is to come into possession of several quarters. The fact that the government will sell a quarter section only to each individual, and that he must satisfy Uncle Sam that he is to become an actual settler, will interfere with some of these sharp plans. The beauty and worth of the Umatilla region has reached California and yesterday half a dozen parties from that state were at the board rooms en route to eastern Oregon.

For the first three days of this week there were sixty eight personal applications at the board rooms, sixty five of which were from persons seeking improved farm lands. On Monday twenty-three were ticketed to southern Oregon.

Yesterday a gentleman who with his family arrived from Massachusetts Friday last, made the purchase of a large farm a few miles from Lebanon. That district is attracting considerable attention.

THE EAST SIDE.

M. E. CHURCH LYCEUM.

The rooms of the Y. M. C. A. were crowded last evening, the occasion being the regular meeting of the lyceum of the M. E. Church. It proved to be one of the most interesting and enjoyable gatherings yet held by the society. After a terse speech of welcome by C. E. Webber, secretary of the Y. M. C. A., Prof. W. A. Wetzell commenced the exercises by rendering "The Creed of the Bells" with faultless expression and fine effect. Following came an essay on "Music and Musical Instruments" by Miss Retta Cougill, "The Two Bears," a recitation by Miss Turner, and "The Toper," a recitation by Miss Ethel Cougill—all creditable and well received. Mr. L. H. Wells concluded the exercises proper by an excellent address on "Grit," showing thorough study of the subject, and containing stubborn facts and sound advice based on evidences of experience. After a short recess, routine business of the society was transacted, and it was decided to hold the meeting next Wednesday evening at the residence of Rev. H. K. Hines, on the Base Line road.

NOTES.

The party who left a package containing money on the seat in the ferry waiting-room yesterday, can recover the same by applying to Beard, the printer, and proving property.

A span of roan horses, belonging to J. N. Hamilton of McMillen's addition, have been missing since Monday noon, when they were indulging their privilege of roaming the streets at large.

The city will not suffer the judgment of $323, with interest, costs and disbursements, in the case of J. E. Bennett against the city, as defendant has a lien on the property of J. T. Stewart, for the improvement of the street abutting thereon, the warrant was issued for the payment of which the suit was brought. Assessments for the improvement became delinquent, but the marshal was restrained from selling the property by the owners, who object to pay in full for the improvement through non-compliance with the contract. Stewart did not join other property-owners in their injunction, for the reason that he was city recorder at the time, and agreeing with Bennett to abide by the decision of the court as to the liability of other property-owners, did not issue a warrant for the collection of his delinquency. Bennett, however, took advantage of this fact—probably growing tired of the law's delay in the pending suit—and sued for payment of the warrant against Stewart's property, with the result as stated. The property involved is on Fifth street between J and K.

TALK OF THE DAY.

The Protestant population of Germany has increased by 500,000 in the last ten years, but only two new churches have been built.

The area of Brooklyn is 13,337 acres, that of the city of New York is 26,500 acres, and that of Staten Island nearly that of both put together, being about 37,440 acres.

If the land in England and Wales were divided equally among the entire population, each person would receive 1.04 acres, of the annual value of about $32 or a little more than 60 cents a week. Land Reformer Henry George makes $100 a night trying to persuade everybody to come down to 60 cents a week.—Philadelphia Call.

The procession of decrepit little boys who smoke cigarettes has begun to deposit its victims in the insane asylum in New Jersey. If it goes on increasing there will have to be more prisons, poorhouses and pauper insane asylums than all other buildings put together in a few years.—Springfield (Mass.) Republican.

Abraham, Isaac and Jacob Kile, of Richmond, Pa., are triplets, 72 years of age. Isaac is 15 minutes older than Jacob, and 15 minutes the junior of Abraham. Their mother died recently, aged 93. Besides these three children she left nine others, with 82 grandchildren, 120 great-grandchildren, 28 great great-grandchildren, and two great-great-great grandchildren.—New York Sun.

The current democratic explanation of the increased republican strength shown at the town elections in New York is that the democrats were all in Washington, looking for offices. As many of them haven't money enough to get home, and many others will get home without the commissions they fondly expected, the republican gain may fairly be accepted as permanent.—New York Tribune.

EXTREME PROHIBITORY LEGISLATION

In Kansas the prohibitionists fondly believe that they have reached the very utmost hight of effective anti-liquor legislation. They have enacted a law which goes further than any hitherto dreamed of. It contains provisions investing the county attorney with hitherto unknown powers. Citizens are required to appear before him and testify on oath in regard to their knowledge of the purchase and sale of liquors, and upon their refusal to do so the county attorney can commit them for contempt. This official becomes prosecuting attorney, grand jury and judge, and is allowed a fee of $25 for each conviction. The governor of the state, though he approved the bill, submitted a message in the nature of a protest, in which he declared that the act conferred upon the county attorney a very dangerous authority, and powers which should not be invested in any officer, and which, in the hands of an unscrupulous man might be grossly abused without fear or possibility of his punishment for such abuse. But the governor signed it nevertheless, on the ground that it contained legislation that was needed, and it would be impossible in the brief time remaining for legislative action to secure re-consideration of the bill with a view to the removal of the objectionable section.

In everything that relates to the liquor traffic the prohibitionist is a man totally without practical judgment. Proof of this has rarely been exhibited with more force than in this act. Passing over the objection that the authority conferred by the act is dangerous and liable to great abuse, it is clear upon any examination of the subject that the act will fail to accomplish the results apparently intended to be accomplished through its agency. The whole authority to enforce it is vested in the county attorney. The prohibitionists are dissatisfied with prosecutions under the grand jury system. But if the grand jury will not inquire into unlawful sales of liquors, what reason is there to suppose that the county attorney will do it? Here and there one may do it for the fees offered him as a bait for performance of an odious duty, but in counties where there is any considerable liquor traffic such official will never be re-elected, while in counties where there is no demand for liquors, and consequently no liquor traffic, the law will be useless, and the county attorney will have nothing to do under it.

In every community where there is a considerable demand for liquors the means of supplying that demand will be found. People are not going to obey any tyrannical or absurd laws on the subject, and they will punish at the polls the officials who try to enforce such laws. Moreover, they who insist upon the enactment of such laws simply take a course which has the effect of bringing law and the law-making power into contempt.

GENERAL GRANT'S DISEASE

There is no doubt that the cancer in the mouth from which General Grant is suffering is making steady progress. In all probability he will not live very long. It is distressing to think of the suffering he must undergo from so terrible a disease, till relieved by death. The fact that daily bulletins are sent out by physicians sufficiently shows that the case is an alarming one. Death is not likely to come to his relief as soon as he may desire it. The progress of the cancer will gradually sap his vital forces, and the end will come through infinite pain, weariness and final exhaustion. There is no doubt that cancer is due in this case, as in so many others, to excessive smoking.

Massachusetts is better provided with statistics of all kinds than any other of our states, and from a late report furnished through its statistical bureau, we learn that cancer in Massachusetts is one of the twelve most destructive diseases. The number of deaths from cancer in 1882 in the state was 987, of whom 641 were women. Cancer is very prevalent through all the New England states—much more prevalent than in the west. It rarely attacks young people, nearly all its victims being above 40 years of age. A writer in the Pall Mall Gazette shows that there is a marked increase of the disease in Great Britain, and says that the disease is more common among the rich than the poor. If so, there would seem to be a connection between cancer and high living. A French writer states the proportion among the rich is 108 cases per 1000, and among the poor 72 per 1000. These statements apparently indicate a far greater prevalence of the disease abroad than here. It is said also that the disease exists among domestic animals, but not among wild. It is most prevalent in England and central Europe, while in northern countries it seldom appears. It is not contagious, but there is no known remedy for it, except the knife. It can be destroyed or removed by surgery, if taken in time, when the situs is favorable for operation.

General Grant is not yet 63 years of age. But for this affliction he probably would be good yet for ten or fifteen years of life. The reverses of the past year have, however, borne very heavily upon him, and, since this calamity of dreadful disease has overtaken him, his spirit has apparently been broken. It seems unlikely that he will live beyond a few months, and it is hardly to be expected that he will ever leave his home again.

There seems to have been no necessity for the reduction of wages on the Missouri Pacific railroad which has been resisted by a strike. This road was chartered by the state of Missouri in 1849, and has had various vicissitudes. It was sold under foreclosure in 1876 for $3,000,000, nominal price, to C. K. Garrison, but a new company organized with a capital of only $800,000. This foreclosure was contested on the ground of fraud, and the supreme court of the United States held there was sufficient evidence to justify a trial upon the merits of the case. In the meantime the new company consolidated various collateral lines and bought up the Iron Mountain stock, increased the Missouri Pacific stock to $30,000,000 and also authorized a mortgage loan to the same amount, of which only a portion has been issued. Under the Gould management and with the prodigious growth of products in all that region, the business has increased enormously. The gross earnings of the Missouri Pacific in 1884 were $16,274,000, near ly one-half being net. The stock paid 7 per cent. in 1883, 5½ in 1884 and a quarterly dividend in January, 1885, of 1¾ per cent. Upon these figures the employes claim with justice that the road is in no stress to require a reduction of wages.

The vacancies caused by the resignations of Secretaries Garland, Lamar and Bayard as senators from their respective states have now all been filled, the election of Secretary Gray of Delaware to succeed Senator Bayard having completed the number. Mr. Gray was elected by the unanimous voice of the legislature of his state and is considered a worthy man of some ability. Three such well known men as Messrs. Garland, Lamar and Bayard never before left the senate in a body to be succeeded by three others so little known as the gentlemen upon whom their mantles have fallen.

The newspapers and business men of New York city are urging the retention of Pearson as postmaster. This would be decidedly in the direction of civil service reform, but if Cleveland should then let the democratic workers in the metropolis of their expected reward in that shameful way there would hardly be enough left of the party organization to be worth burying.

President Cleveland will have an opportunity Saturday of showing the strength of his civil service reform resolutions. On that day the term of Postmaster Pearson of New York expires and a successor is to be appointed. Mr. Pearson, although a republican, is considered the shining example of a purely non-partisan official. His office has been operated in strict conformity to the rules of the civil service commission and is considered a model one. It is thought by those who are enthusiastic in their belief in the new reform that Mr. Pearson will be made his own successor, as Mr. Cleveland can by so doing impress on the public, as in no other way, the conviction that he means to carry out impartially the principles enunciated in his inaugural. Much interest is felt in the matter, not only in New York, but throughout the entire country.

George Stephen, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, in a statement recently published, takes up the charges of extravagant expenditure against his company, and asserts that when connection with the Pacific ocean shall be made, at or near the end of the present year, the company will have built in fifty-three months 2181 miles of railway, at a cash outlay of $66,731,703, or $30,551 per mile, against a cost of $51,500 for 770 miles of the Northern Pacific. But materials and labor are much cheaper now.

The tendency of all government is to increase its functions and of the governing class to augment its numbers. Without doubt there are hundreds of officials in Washington who have but little to do but draw their salaries. If these useless offices were lopped off it would be the greatest reform the administration could effect. As soon as the offices are reduced to the actual needs of the business of administering the government, they will cease to tempt the politicians, with whom hard work has never agreed.

The Minnesota legislature which met with a whirlwind of talk about the extortions of the railroads, had the good sense to discuss the question thoroughly, giving the railroads a chance to be heard at great length, and in the end passed a conservative railroad law similar to that of Massachusetts. The benefits of a full investigation of the grounds of complaint, and a full public discussion of methods for their removal were never more clearly illustrated.

The New York Sun advises the democrats in the Illinois legislature to drop Morrison as their candidate and take up a new man. Lyman Trumbull is mentioned as a name to charm the one or two republican votes necessary to the election of a democratic senator. The Sun's remedy might work as far as the republican votes were concerned, but how would the democratic brethren take the dose?

The Illinois legislature is wasting more time than the legislature of this state did. It has been in session nearly seventy days, at a cost of about $125,000, passing meanwhile bills appropriating $5000 for its own contingent expenses and a similar amount for improving the Illinois display at New Orleans, and wasting the rest of the time in trying to elect Logan's successor in the United States senate.

Democratic politicians are not saying very much yet, but they are fuming inwardly over the slowness of the president in making appointments. When it becomes evident that the president will make no new appointments except as terms expire, the air will take on a blue tinge from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Our democratic brethren are victims of misplaced confidence. They expected to have a good time "turning the rascals out." Much to their dismay they find no rascals to turn out. This causes the procession to move slowly.

"Turn the rascals out!" was the democratic campaign cry. But the administration elected on this cry is turning nobody out. The logical inference is that it finds no "rascals" in. This is a world of disappointments.

McSweeney, of English prison notoriety, has turned up at Washington as a candidate for the collectorship at San Francisco, and thinks that his "services to the party" ought to secure to him the place.

BOSS MANNING

That Mr. Cleveland's secretary of the treasury is to be his chief and most trusted adviser in the cabinet scarcely admits of a doubt. Manning is essentially a boss with boss methods which he will carry with him into the councils of the man whom he was largely instrumental in creating. It is notorious that Manning managed Cleveland's campaign for him; that he taught Grover all he knows about politics, and that Manning himself is a pupil of Samuel J. Tilden's, still looking upon the sage of Gramercy park as his adviser and model. Tilden is back of both of them, directing Manning, who in turn moves the puppet labeled Cleveland.

It was so during the campaign, and indications are not lacking that it is so still. The relations of these three worthies to each other and to the presidential campaign were graphically and, we have no doubt, truly described by the Washington correspondent of the Cleveland Leader in a letter written just before the president completed his cabinet. The correspondent said:

Every letter Cleveland wrote was first revised by Manning, and he would not undertake the management of the campaign without Cleveland's first promising that this should be so. Cleveland objected, but Manning held out and he finally had to concur. Manning has been trained by Samuel J. Tilden, and I understand that the palsied hand of the sage of Greystone is to be the power behind the throne which is to still manipulate the party and its chief. The telegraph wires will be kept hot from now on between here and Gramercy park, and Tilden's clear foxy intellect will dictate the policy of the president though his voice is gone and his words cannot be heard without an ear trumpet.

It is further related that when Cleveland went, a few days before his inauguration, to see Tilden, he did not go as a lord but as a servant. Tilden did not bow to him, nor does he overflow with the silly adulation of Washington toadies and office seekers in general. It was Cleveland who was the pupil and Tilden the teacher, and that the period of tutelage is by no means ended is pretty certain. The correspondent gives this further [illegible] showing Cleveland's reliance upon Manning during the campaign:

I [illegible] to-day how the [illegible] letter came to be written. According to the above arrangement by which Cleveland [illegible] himself not to write any letters unless by Manning's direction, he advised with him before he wrote the [illegible] letter. He was greatly alarmed by the scandal about Maria Halpin and the letter was written to offset this. Manning told Cleveland to write it, but that he (Manning) must supervise it before it went out. Shortly after Cleveland had finished it and was looking it over with Manning Beecher called, and the three looked over it together, each cutting out what he thought best. It then went to Manning, and he struck his pen through several words. Cleveland had directed it to Mrs. Beecher and Beecher took it home and read it to his wife. He then according to an agreement with Manning sent it back to Cleveland. It came and was laid on the desk where his clerk, seeing it, supposed it was to be mailed. He did it up and remailed it to Beecher [illegible] as it was sent [illegible] in his meeting. It [illegible] in the various [illegible] Manning saw [illegible] and in the future he kept a closer eye than ever on every scrap of writing which went out under Cleveland's signature.

Manning's "fine Italian hand" was seen in the inaugural address and especially in Cleveland's silver letter. The Chicago Tribune prints a poem [illegible] off the Albany statesman in beautiful style. It runneth as follows:

PREMIER MANNING

O I am the boss of the new machine!
And I'm just the man for the place, I mean
To run her for all she's worth. We've got
Four years to operate in. Great Scott!
What more can we ask for? I've had the gall
To run one state and I'll run em all.
O I'm a schemer and know my gait
And my work's cut out until '88.

While Grover is the figurehead, it is Dan
Which [illegible] the throttle valve! I'm the man
Who [illegible] the president and he [illegible]
The purpose too. I've got the [illegible]
And I've got the chance on an awful scale
And I'm not the kind of man to fail.
I want the earth and as sure as fate,
I'll have it mostly in '88.

Great gosh! The treasury! What a haul!
I'm a way up rooster! I'm getting it all.
They may talk of statesmen for such a place
But it's tricks are wanted. I'll set the pace
And I'll make it smashing. We've got 'em foul
They may howl if they want to. We'll let 'em howl.
I'll show [illegible] trick [illegible] —well
I'll put the money where it will tell!

We've got 'em for keeps! We control the strings
We'll [illegible]
Of cash and patronage [illegible] fast
With something to live on [illegible] will last
We've got the revenues [illegible]
I'm boss [illegible] man. I'll run [illegible]
[illegible] plotting [illegible]
And I'll hold that commission in '88.

It must not be forgotten that this is the era of "reform."

NOTES FROM WASHINGTON

SAN FRANCISCO, March 18.—The Chronicle's Washington special says: There are reasons to believe that Nicholas Bell of Missouri will be appointed first assistant postmaster-general.

Secretary Lamar has decided to recommend C. A. Shaw of Boston for the commissionership of patents.

Fashionable society circles had scarcely recovered from their surprise at Cleveland's plebian habits of breakfasting at 8 o'clock and working in his shirt sleeves, when it received a still worse shock. The invitations to the official reception of last night were printed on ordinary note paper with a type-writer. Fashionable society is terribly cut up about it.

DAMAGED BY FLOOD.

MARSHALL, Mo., March 18.—Immense damage has been done by an ice-gorge overflow at Waverly, Missouri. A party has left here in skiffs, with provisions to relieve distress. They found Mrs. Judge Thomas on a hill where she had been two days and nights without shelter.

No poison in Red Star Cough Cure. No [illegible] [illegible]

Coroner Cooke was notified yesterday afternoon that the body of a Chinaman had been discovered buried near the cricket grounds, and only about sixty feet from a dwelling. It is said that the body was buried there about two months ago by two men, who brought it out in an express wagon at dusk. The matter will be investigated by the coroner.

The first number of the Irish-American, a weekly paper issued by Messrs. Keegan & Flynn "in the interests of our Irish fellow-citizens," was brought out on St. Patrick's day. It presents a very neat appearance, and as is appropriate to the occasion was printed in green ink. LOCAL AND GENERAL.

BROKE JAIL.—On Monday night last, W A Wiley, who was confined in the Umatilla county jail at Pendleton for horse-stealing, made his escape When J H Lowrey, the turnkey, went into the jail to lock the prisoners in, Wiley had secreted himself in the corridor behind the sink While Lowrey was placing the locks on the cell doors the prisoner sprang on his back and effectually held him from using his pistol After fighting out of the corridor into the jail, Wiley got hold of a lock, each using a heavy Yale lock with all his force on the other's head. All this time the prisoners in the cells kept crying to Wiley, "Kill him and let us out" Lowrey succeeded in keeping him from the lever holding the cell doors in place, and nearly succeeded in getting the outer door shut on him The last blow seems to have stunned Lowrey, and Wiley pushed his way out and made his escape Sheriff Martin immediately took steps to recapture Wiley, offering a reward of $300 for his return He is described as a man of about 35 years of age, 5 feet and 9 or 10 inches tall, weight 150 pounds, dark hair, cut short, mustache and burnsides, dark, chin smooth shaved When escaped had on no clothes except a pair of red drawers and undershirt, no hat or boots He has the name of being a tough customer.

THE BEEF QUESTION.—In regard to the prices of meats here a prominent dealer yesterday stated that round steaks and chuck roasts with beef and veal once a week are supplied to second class hotels, restaurants, etc, at seven cents per pound There is small demand for anything except the finest cuts and roasts. Every one wants tenderloin, porterhouse or sirloin steaks, scraped rib, mutton chops, in short, the best cuts in the carcass. It is therefore necessary to cut up a large number of animals to supply this demand and there is no sale for the coarser parts of the beef One dealer showed the reporter several scores of barrels of corned beef, for which there is no sale, and remarked that the trouble was that there are not enough poor people here The butchers cannot afford to sell the choice cuts at a low price and throw away the course pieces The idea suggested itself to the reporter that the proper thing to do under these circumstances would be to put the choice cuts higher and the poorer meats lower than at present. Many people would then eat the cheap meat and there would be more tenderloin left for reporters and others who can afford luxuries

STRIKING A "PUDDING."—Joe Day rather prides himself on his skill in boxing He ran across a noisy old fellow in a saloon a day or two since and ordered him out. The old fellow intimated that Joe could not put him out Joe said, "I'd just like to put on the gloves with you" "Faith, thin, that is just what I'd like, too," said the old chap It was soon arranged that they should step around to Joe Taylor's and have a friendly bout. On the way round Joe invited every one he met to come along and see the fun, as he had struck a "pudding" Among the parties thus invited was an OREGONIAN reporter, who has a grudge against puddings, and went along to see one spifflicated. The parties put on the gloves and Joe waltzed into his pudding, who hit straight out from the shoulder and landed a solid one on Joe's bugle, knocking him clean through the ropes Just how the battle fared afterward the reporter cannot state, as he went out of that crowd like shot out of a gun. But he thinks there is considerable difference between striking a pudding and being struck by one SHIPPING LIQUORS C. O. D.—Wholesale liquor dealers who have customers in country towns who are accustomed to order their stimulants in small quantities and have them sent C O D, will be interested in the following decision, as will also the parties who will not be likely to get any more liquor in this way "Judge Treat of the United States district court for the southern district of Illinois has affirmed the ruling of the commissioner of internal revenue, viz "That when distilled spirits are shipped by a vendor to his vendee, to be paid for on delivery, the carrier is the agent of the vendor, that the spirits remain the property of the vendor in the hands of the carrier until the condition precedent (payment) is complied with, that the sale is made at the time when and the place where the goods are delivered on payment, and that liability to a special tax as liquor dealer, under the internal revenue laws, is incurred by the vendor for that time and place."

ARRESTED FOR PERJURY.—Mrs Wong Chung, the Chinese woman who was arrested charged with the murder of the woman whom the coroner's jury found to have committed suicide, was released yesterday, Judge Moreland having dismissed the case against her in the police court. Just as she was going out of one door of the jail she had the satisfaction of seeing her accuser brought in at another and bundled into a cell upon a charge of perjury Judge Stott, the woman's counsel, believes that he has a good case against the prisoner, Ah Dak If it is proven that he wilfully committed perjury in a case which jeopardized the life of a human being, he will deserve to receive the extreme penalty, twenty years in the penitentiary

COURT RULE AMENDED.—The following amendment to rule 13 of the State circuit court was issued by Judge Smith yesterday "It is hereby ordered that the rules governing the practice of the circuit court of the State of Oregon for the Fourth judicial district, and taking effect by the order adopting the same on the 12th day of January, 1885, be and the same hereby are adopted and declared to be rules governing the practice in department No 1 of said court, from and after this date. And it is further ordered that rule No 13 be and the same hereby is amended, by adding thereto "and the words action at law, if the said paper be filed in an action, and the words in equity, if the paper be filed in a suit in equity"

BEGUN WORK.—The first session of department No. 2, of the state circuit court was held yesterday Judge Stearns takes the equity and criminal dockets. There are no cases set down for trial before the 24th inst., but motions will be heard, orders made, etc The first official act of Judge Stearns of department No 2, was to make an order on a stipulation made before the referee in the case of Holladay vs Holladay, authorizing the receiver to produce books, and papers in his possession as they may be called for by either party to be used in evidence

DID NOT GET TO SHOOT.—The residence of T A Sutherland, editor of the Sunday Welcome, was entered by a burglar Tuesday night and his refrigerator robbed of butter, eggs, and the porterhouse steak intended for his breakfast Sutherland has long been ambitious to have a pot shot at a burglar, but although awake at the time of the robbery did not hear the velvet-footed thief, and is now lamenting the fine opportunity he missed The refrigerator is baited again, and if that burglar returns for another breakfast he will get his fill of lead

FATALITY ATTACHED TO IT.—One of the chains used in moving the old wooden building, which has been the cause of several accidents already and one of them fatal, broke again yesterday morning, the ends flying in dangerous proximity to several workmen. Fortunately, no one was hurt this time, but when Dr Wheeler, who has been called to attend three persons there, heard of it, he declared he would rent the building for a hospital, and giving up his other practice, stay with that hereafter.

SUES FOR WAGES.—Hugh Dennison commenced suit against Clara Hamilton, executrix of the estate of A. Y Hamilton, deceased, in the state circuit court, department No. 1, yesterday, to recover $2028 97 He alleges that this amount is due him for money loaned and services performed as salesman and bookkeeper He alleges that he has presented his claim and that only a portion of it was allowed, wherefore he asks judgment for the amount claimed

FIRST GAME OF BASEBALL.—The delightful weather has developed the baseball malaria very early this year A correspondent at St. Paul, Marion county, writes "A match game of base ball was played on last Sunday, between the St Pauls and Woodburns After a very exciting contest, which was witnessed by 500 persons the game was finished in favor of the St. Pauls score 25 to 8." Twenty-five to eight! It must have been very exciting

THE NEW PILOT BOAT.—It is the intention of the new board of pilot commissioners as soon as they organize, which will be about April 1, to call for plans and specifications for the building of the pilot boat for which $10 000 was appropriated at the last legislature The boat will be built of the best material and will probably be an Astoria production It is intended that she shall be of improved model and in every respect a staunch vessel

HE WILL SUCCEED.—Apropos of the industrial resources of Oregon, it is discovered that a recent immigrant is earning a livelihood from the sale of horseradish and hominy, which he personally prepares He has a family in the east and hopes by large sales to amass means sufficient to bring them out. He is entitled to reduced rates for encouraging and developing home production

SLOW PREPARATIONS.—The Astorian of yesterday says Two weeks to the beginning of the fishing season, and, as yet, very little preparations. Agents are slow about making advances to canneries canneries are slow about making overtures to agents, and contracts for supplies are, so far, very light. There is a general disposition to hold off or hold on a while longer

MOVING OFFICES.—Yesterday was general moving day at O R & N headquarters, corner Front and D, and everybody in the service will hereafter have to be satisfied with less room The manager's office has been moved into the directors' room the superintendent's office into the rooms vacated by the manager, and the traffic department to the first floor in the rooms vacated by the superintendent

PRACTICAL ELECTRICITY

The Beautiful Things the High School Class Saw and had Explained to them at the Works Last Night.

Pursuant to invitation the High School class last night visited the works of the United States Electric Light company at the foot of Ash street and were shown through by E. F. Hawkins the [illegible] After the class had finished its examination of the machinery one of the young ladies accompanied by her escort came to THE OREGONIAN office to ask us to thank Mr Hawkins and the employes of the electric light company for the kindness and attention shown the class. As her pretty little feet sank almost out of sight in the Turkish carpet of the reporter's room she seemed a little abashed as much by the elegance of the apartments as by the novelty of standing in the presence of a real live reporter [illegible] "I called that is we called," she said looking timidly yet trustfully, in the face of her escort who flushed also "to have you thank Mr Hawkins, who is a dear nice man and so learned He knows so much about electricity He explained all about the dynamo and things and showed us how much electricity was created by the belt And I just thought it was a pity that it could not be run into bottles or barrels and saved And oh my you should have seen how funny Charley [illegible] and Mr Blank [illegible] looked when he put his hand toward the [illegible] Why his hair stood out [illegible] straight you know," she explained "like a [illegible] [illegible] It felt [illegible] You [illegible] Charley [illegible] And then it made [illegible] the girls' faces show so plain. And the man said it would [illegible] But it didn't hurt Charley's because the works are all brass

"I was just delighted with the horizontal submerged tubular upright boiler and [illegible] which the waste motor force is used [illegible] the cylinder heads though why they [illegible] I could not see as there was no [illegible] on them The sparks on the commutator [illegible] on each other in its rapid revolutions were just bewildering The [illegible] system [illegible] is conducted on the [illegible] plan which is just lovely but it does seem [illegible] that the elevators in the stores should [illegible] run by electricity [illegible] by shutting the currents with [illegible] brushes Here she stopped but added [illegible] Mr [illegible] all the reporters arose and bowed [illegible] we are awfully obliged to Mr Hawkins, and all that sort of thing, and we will be so awfully obliged [illegible]

And as she went away the room seemed to grow dark as though an electric light had [illegible] out. But her radiant countenance with its happy smile lighting it up, may be [illegible] to [illegible] an electric light to the [illegible] she makes happy

THE STAGE

THE CASINO.—The Queen's Lace Handkerchief by Strauss was produced last evening, The delays in its preparation [illegible] anticipation and expectancy ran high enough to insure for the opening night an immense audience. [illegible] merit printed in THE OREGONIAN yesterday gives the story at length There is such an equal division of labor among the principals both as to acting and singing that to individualize would be partiality While however the cast brings no one particularly to the fore, the plot requires [illegible] innate work from each and everything was admirably and artistically done Perhaps Mr Valerga should have special mention for his pleasing singing of Cervantes music and should also be advised to take more pains to acquire fluent control of the spoken lines of his part There is so little dialogue to connect the thread of the argument that clear enunciation in recitative and conversation is essential to proper understanding of the plot Miss Winston as King of Portugal has but little to do except look regal as befits a monarch This she accomplishes heightening the effect of her splendid presence by the most superb costumes Both in the Truffle song and in the interpolated Wie Schon ist [illegible] she was encored Miss Bessie Louise King who played the queen of Portugal looked charming, sang well and came in for a share of hearty encore Messrs Bell and Hagerman kept the broad comedy going and what could be made out of Mr Blair [illegible] his [illegible] good Miss [illegible] was acceptably correct in her interpretation of the part of the Donna Irene and so it would be possible to generalize [illegible] of each in turn The musical strength of the opera however lies in the [illegible] of the ensemble work The choruses are far above the rest of the [illegible] fact which the audience thoroughly appreciated The finale to the second act is very fine and works up to a grand climax which showed principals chorus and orchestra to the best advantage and elicited a spontaneous burst of enthusiastic applause and determined re-demand [illegible] to promise the management has been lavish in expenditure on costumes which are rich and appropriate and the Lace Handkerchief is a [illegible]

THE TIVOLI.—"The Heart of the Siskiyou" is becoming very popular at this cozy theater It is one of the most interesting plays produced of late years and is so pleasingly interspersed with [illegible] and humor the audience is kept in the qui vive from first to last A better picture of western life cannot be imagined the scenes enacted on the mountain and in the miner's cabin come home to all and are nightly greeted with hearty and enthusiastic applause The representation reflects credit on the [illegible] company The parts are [illegible] played, and the whole goes like clockwork

NEW MARKET THEATER.—There will be presented to-night at this theater the amusing comedy Uncle Josh by Mr M D Wilson and his dramatic company The piece is a good one and has been a drawing card wherever presented [illegible] abounds in music and mirth [illegible] beginning to end The company brings the reputation of being well balanced without weak spots so that a satisfactory performance throughout may be expected

MR HAMILTON'S LECTURE.

The paper presented by Mr A S Hamilton on the subject Mormonism was listened to yesterday evening by a thoroughly appreciative audience and was a succinct and resolute arraignment of the institution and its leaders He gave a brief sketch of the rise of the fanatic faith and the early settlements of its votaries Whenever the neighborhood or state could no longer bear their [illegible] and depredations a revelation would start them off for pastures new until at last they found a long and comparatively undisturbed refuge in Utah territory The lecturer rehearsed graphically, the steps by which the Mormon power was consolidated On the one hand was the [illegible] [illegible] servility of the people who were a kind of English penal colony constantly reinforced and who were dominated by Young and his subordinates On the other hand was the [illegible] of the government under Fillmore, the compromises of Buchanan and the embarrassments of civil war which left the twin relic of barbarism [illegible] free to increase and intrench itself During these times unconquerable [illegible] Gentiles were subjected to blood atonement [illegible] to use Brigham Young's words [illegible] Under [illegible] Judge McKean a man of inflexible purpose [illegible] to the territory and the first conviction of a Mormon John D Lee for the Mountain Meadows massacre took place but even this [illegible] through the instrumentality of Mormon wives

Of late years it is their policy to gloss their institutions particularly before distinguished visitors and many have been deceived Such men as Blaine and Colfax and such women as Emily Faithfull and Kate Field have not been deceived and the latter is now speaking with great vigor against this dreadful despotism The Mormons are increasing [illegible] 5000 annually They have [illegible] in neighboring territories until they hold a balance of power They are the smoothest liars on earth, and command the most slavish obedience They are a nation within the nation defying the just powers

Mr Hamilton is an advocate of the most uncompromising and searching measures to break their strongholds and dethrone their leaders and expressed the hope that the policy fairly inaugurated by the late republican administration would be followed up as strenuously by the present government For the question at issue is above all party and is a question to be solved, if no other way is left by the supreme executive force of the nation

Miss Irwin accompanied by Miss Hersey favored the audience with two admirable songs during the evening

"POLISHED SHAFTS."

Under this title Rev J [illegible] A Henry delivered a lecture of great force and interest last evening in Grace M E chapel The theme of the speaker was true education and its results The selfish tendencies of certain great teachers of the day in their expression of education from their standpoint simply the disposition and power to shield one's own interests at the cost of others' weakness [illegible] and misfortune was compared with the ideal of the speaker—The "Polished shaft" that [illegible] sent as the greatest of teachers seem [illegible] the lessons of [illegible] culture traced to its pure source in Him who is truly represented by the winged arrow is the towering polished shafts that mark in its great [illegible] and noblest labors The speaker [illegible] word to say in favor of the physical side of culture and made himself the butt of his own pleasantry upon the subject regretting that like most students he had too much neglected the training and development of body that so rarely receives proper consideration in schools [illegible] The speaker [illegible] [illegible] and filled the oft repeated [illegible] [illegible] of the man who chooses this subject with vigor and strength

The [illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] irresistibly brought the speaker's conclusions

The pastor of Grace church referred to the gratifying fact that the series of entertainments [illegible] by Mr Henry's lecture had nearly [illegible] toward the object in view—the purchase of a piano for the lecture room

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Electric Light Ordinance Passed over the Mayor's Veto.

SEVERAL POLICEMEN DISPLACED

A Low License Liquor Ordinance Introduced The City Plazas to be Opened—Bankers, Brokers and Wharfingers to Pay License.

The appointed hour for the council to meet last evening was 7 30 but the councilmen gathered in little knots in the committee-rooms and mayor's office all talking earnestly and it was fully 8 o'clock before the mayor rapped to order The roll was called all being present except Smith and [illegible] Adams the minutes were [illegible] read and approved In this way the council got down to business at once

Councilman Smith came in about the time the claims were paid

COMMUNICATIONS

The mayor by means of a short introduction presented the offer of the gas company to light the city at a reduced rate which offer was published in yesterday's OREGONIAN There was a minute's silence and [illegible] inclined to dispose of the communication [illegible] the clerk proceeded to read the following

MAYOR'S VETO

To the Honorable the Common Council of the city of Portland Gentlemen I return to you herewith without my approval an ordinance entitled An ordinance authorizing and directing [illegible] contract with the United States Electric Light and Power company of Portland Oregon for the following reasons

First A petition has been presented [illegible] [illegible] signed by heavy taxpayers of the city [illegible] [illegible] justly [illegible] why [illegible] their [illegible] the work [illegible] of the [illegible] [illegible] broken [illegible] [illegible] You may say that the objections [illegible] is proper [illegible] [illegible] Your [illegible] [illegible] with [illegible] weapons [illegible] earnest efforts to the contrary [illegible] the protest [illegible] citizens

Second I believe in the greatest good to the greatest number which disposition is not shown in this case It is the old matter of taxation without representation The placing of electric lights along a few blocks of First and Third streets will only benefit the public for a very few hours in the evening to the detriment of a large portion of our citizens beyond the proposed electric limits who are equally entitled to as much consideration as First and Third street I consider sufficiently illuminated for all practical purposes for the present

Third The financial condition of the city will not admit of an experimental contract for two years Under the present small levy of 3 mills for general purposes out of which after first setting aside $2000 for interest on bonds is created the police and lamp funds and of the remainder 10 per cent to the general fund It has been closely estimated that out of this 3 mill tax 60 per cent is necessary for the requirements of the police department thereby leaving but 30 per cent for the lamp fund This 30 per cent will raise but about $3,000 while this contract with the U S Electric Lighting and Power Company calls for $16,000 and $2000 more if electric lights are run all night. Add to this the lights already in excess of the contract and those hereafter erected and you will have no small additional sum to add to the amount An endeavor may be made to show you that this latter amount may be decreased by the all night circuit, thereby dispensing with the lamps on First and Third street between Market and G streets numbering fifty two This number, it may be alleged by the opposition can be placed elsewhere in the city and still fall below the limit, and at $2 05 per lamp give a saving $1,3 20 and thus decrease the $2000 all night circuit that amount each year Such will not be the case For instance the city erected during the last year over fifty lamps, and in all likelihood will during the first year of the proposed contract erect at least fifty additional lamps the second year a like number or as the city grows so increases the demand for lamps Now taking an increase of fifty lamps the first year divide them equally into B and D burners at prices named in the new contract proposed to be entered into, and you will have the sum of $550, which if taken from the sum of $1271 claimed as a saving will leave but $640 20 as a saving only the first year and when the second year is taken into consideration with $1860 where is the saving?

Fourth—To light the streets with electricity to the hour of midnight only would in my judgment be unwise For when these lights were shut off at the hour when thieves and ruffians start forth upon their mission of infamy the difference of light between electricity and oil would be so marked by the lightness as to appear as if it was intended for these midnight and early prowlers To light the streets with electricity the lights must be kept burning all night, hence the additional expense of $2000, which added to the $16 000 gives the sum of $18 000 To which add $2000 more for erecting and repairing—not mentioning the cost of the change from gas to oil lamps—and the amount swells to $20 000 the first year less $311 20 the saving before alluded to while on the other hand to light the city with gas and oil on the present schedule with gas at $3 per lamp which could have been obtained last September and with coal oil at present lighting prices which are largely in excess of bids recently received by the committee on streets and public property and referred to your honorable body, together with the cost of erecting and repairing fifty B burner lamps will reach the sum of $17 742 a saving of $1808 80 the first year under the present high rates of lighting oil lamps

Fifth—In conclusion I would state that when the city had more money than at the present time and scarcely any improved streets we got along just as well with oil lamps lighted on moonlight schedule as we do to-day and I am sure we can get along with gas and oil until such time as the city's finances will admit of an increased expenditure

J. A. CHAPMAN Mayor

In a low voice the mayor stated that the vote would recur upon the passage of the ordinance over his veto those in favor of the passage voting yea and those opposed nay There was no discussion and as the clerk called the roll all the councilmen present eight in number voted yea. Thus the ordinance was passed unanimously over the mayor's veto

THE NARROW GAUGE LEASE.

Judgment Rendered Yesterday against the O. R & N Co. for $68,131

Judge Deady Decides Finally that the Lessors have the Right to Make and the Lessees to Take a Lease

In the United States circuit court yesterday Judge Deady delivered an opinion in the case of the Oregonian Railway Company (limited) vs the Oregon Railway and Navigation Company This was an action brought by the plaintiff to recover of the defendant a half yearly installment of rent on its narrow gauge railway leased by defendant. Defendant made a defense that the plaintiff was not a corporation and had not power to lease its road and that the defendant had not power to take it although expressly authorized in its articles of corporation to lease any railway in Oregon Plaintiff demurred to the answer Judge Deady decided that the defendant having contracted with the plaintiff as the Oregonian railway company (limited) for a lease of its railway was estopped to deny its corporate existence or its power to make such lease and also that defendant had power to take the lease and in so doing it was not acting contrary to any law of Oregon or the public policy of the state Judgment was therefore given for plaintiff against defendant for $68,131 rent for six months together with legal interest from the 15th of May last and costs and disbursements

The Oregonian railway company (limited) yesterday brought a second action for the rent due in November, 1884 viz $68,131 Another action for the same amount will be brought on the 15th of May next A suit in equity for $50,000 being the O R & N Co's contribution to the Oregonian company's sinking fund—will be brought forthwith. There is also pending an equity suit, the object of which is to cause the O R & N Co to make good its extensive dilapidations on the narrow gauge estimated at $150 000 to $200 000 All of these suits and actions depend upon the validity of the lease which was established by the decision of the U S court yesterday There are besides we understand actions by individual bondholders and shareholders of the Oregonian company (as expressly covenanted for in the lease) against the O R & N Co for their shares respectively of the rents in default—over and above the actions of the Oregonian company as a corporation The Oregonian company [illegible] to sue the O R & N Co for damages for operating the railroad in a manner contrary to the covenants of the lease whereby the natural traffic of the road has been impeded and sacrificed and public convenience hindered. The amount due by the O.R & N Co under the lease every year is $136,000—nearly $1,00,000 which will be sued for regularly year by year

A NINETEEN OUNCE NUGGET.

The Biggest Gold Bowlder Picked Up in the Cœur d'Alene Mines.

[Murray Sun]

A sensation was created late Thursday afternoon by the news that an immense chunk of gold had been found on Porter & Henderson's Gillette claim a mile below Murray The report was brought to town by one of the men working on the claim but as the nugget did not come up during the evening many were inclined to discredit it However Mr Porter gave all doubters an opportunity to convince themselves by a sight and heft of the piece Tuesday morning. It was found to be irregular in shape nearly four inches long two and a half wide and one in thickness, and weighed nineteen ounces twelve pennyweights and eighteen grains, the largest nugget ever found in the Cœur d'Alene mines It carries some quartz which will probably amount to an ounce, while the gold is of bright yellow with no rusty stains, and is well rolled It was struck twice with a pick and scraped into a pan with some gravel by a miner named Jackson one of the lessees of the ground He had not proceeded very far in washing the dirt when he came across the nugget For a moment he was bewildered by its enormous size, then he gave a yell that made the pineries echo for miles and in the excitement of the moment jumped in the creek up to his armpits. His companions hearing the cry rushed to the spot and found the overjoyed miner struggling up the bank with the nugget firmly clinched in his hand There was a general rejoicing over the find, and the remainder of the dirt panned out, which gave another piece of an ounce in weight and small gold over an ounce giving the entire pan a value of 21 ounces and over the largest amount ever taken out in one pan in the camp of which we have any record The Gillette has so far proved to be our banner claim, and the spring opening keeps it in the front rank Its previous largest nugget weighed 13½ ounces while a vast number of small ones of from one to ten ounces have been garnered by the lucky owners

Up to the finding of the above nugget Dream gulch had the prestige with 19 ounces but as will be seen the Gillette piece is nearly half an ounce heavier The Myrtle claim on Trail gulch which has held the second position in the nugget line in the camp with a 17-ounce chunk is now relegated to the third position and Dream to the second No doubt we will be called upon to chronicle further changes as the season advances.

THE LA CAMAS WATERWORKS

The Enterprise Completed after a Year of Steady Work

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN

To-day water was let on to the wheel at the paper mill It is now nearly a year since work commenced on this gigantic enterprise The work has been carried on steadily and for a part of the time night and day as fast as the nature of the undertaking would admit. A large force of men are hurrying forward the business of placing the paper mill machinery in position Surveyors are locating a line for a railroad from here to the interior of Clarke county as fine an agricultural country as lies west of the Cascade mountains A large gang of men are at work clearing out obstructions in La Camas creek to open up some of the best fir larch, oak maple and ash timbered lands on the coast Three full gangs of loggers are at work along the lake The sawmill is running full time on orders for houses in the town teams are hauling lumber in all directions the hotels are full, the stores are busy there is not an idle man in sight and every indication of a prosperous community is present I came here skeptical and after investigation am not only convinced but enthusiastic that the place has a future as well as your own Portland A

WHEAT—Very little doing and last quotations are continued. Advices present little of news interest.

MILLSTUFF—First hands report selling slow and values rather easier. Jobbing prices without change.

OATS—Dealers well stocked but offerings are not heavy and values are fairly maintained.

CHICKENS—Mixed lots sold at $4; choice would do better.

EGGS—Off to 12@12½c and in large stock.

DRIED FRUIT—Sun-dried apples if choice meet with better request while common machine-cured drag. Eastern buyers have taken up all prunes offering at 8c and stocks now are small. Pears sell slowly as also do common sorts of plums. Peaches are firm, stocks being improved. Quote apples and pears 4@5c for sun cured and 5@8c for factory; prunes 8@10c; plums 8@10c; peaches 12½@13c; new raisins $[illegible] per full box.

PROVISIONS—The demand has ruled steady and the market shows no decided change. Buyers are obtaining figures for shipment to western Canada and there is some competition between local and eastern packers for these orders. Quote jobbing values: Choice city-cured hams 12@13c; bacon 10@11c; shoulders 6@7c; eastern bacon 10½@11c; hams 13@15c; country-cured ranging ½@1c less. Lard in liberal stock. Quote choice eastern tins 11½@12c; keg pails 11@11½c; large packages local 8@9c. Arrival of eastern meats for the week were light.

HOPS—No spot trading reported and values are wholly nominal. San Francisco quotes 9@11c and our market may be quoted about the same but it seems wholly deserted by buyers. A San Francisco exchange says: "Reports of a discouraging nature to holders have followed in such tedious and regular succession that many have come to the conclusion that there is no bottom left to the market. In some instances a crash is prophesied and a dealer in New York has demonstrated his confidence in a further decline by contracting to deliver a round lot in monthly installments at 15c per pound. Viewed through the rosiest medium the outlook is not cheering but there are various possibilities that may change the situation at shortest notice. It will be recalled that last year with supplies closely consumed the market dragged along in the slowest possible way at 17@19c up to June 20 when unfavorable English crop reports advanced rates to 20@22c and later to 25@28c while about July 25 the few bales left were held at 32c per pound. At the same time dealers turned their attention to speculations and there were sales to the extent of 8000 bales at 15@17½c per pound. There is one radical difference between the conditions existing then and now however in the large surplus awaiting disposition and that will undoubtedly stand in the way of any marked change for the better. The local market continues flat; efforts to arouse interest being of no avail, even brewers claiming to be supplied." New York mail dates report: "Prices are nominally unchanged and the market continues to present a quiet and tame appearance with transactions confined to small parcels. Interior advices report a little more inquiry but no improvement in values. The whole situation is just now one of gloom with no sign of improvement."

WOOL—Dealers are preparing to handle the spring clip and advances are frequently reported. All are working cautiously as advices do not indicate a healthy opening at the east. New York dates report: "Trade has drifted along slowly with dealers and consumers alike cautious in their operations and the tendency of values generally has been favorable to buyers. The only noticeable exception is the small stock of choice and desirable grades of delaine and fleeces which continue to rule firm with holders evincing no anxiety to sell except at full figures. Boston advices report a good average business in progress but the unsatisfactory prices realized are a continued cause of complaint and results since the new year opened have been disappointing. Manufacturers have not deviated from their policy of limiting purchases to current requirements and dealers find little satisfaction in urging supplies upon a reluctant market. It is intimated that the existing trouble at the carpet mills between manufacturers and operatives is likely to be settled by the former yielding to the terms of the latter. This change is said to have been brought about by the prospect of an active spring trade and the inability of manufacturers to fill orders at hand."

The Merchandise Market.

Continued bright weather has lent new [illegible] to trade and the week has brought large orders fr[illegible] [illegible] The inward movement shows [illegible] merchants [illegible] both [illegible] [illegible] Jobbers have [illegible] necessary to import more fully to keep pace with the demands of customers. San Francisco and the east are pushing trade this way with more vigor, jobbers being enabled to buy to rather better advantage of some sorts. The grocery trade is described as very free; hardware is in larger movement and dry goods and clothing promise better. Hardware dealers have of late received liberal additions to their stocks. The agricultural implement trade promises well but dealers work slowly. Prices changes are few and as frequently stated in the past few weeks unimportant.

A review of last week's San Francisco market by the Commercial News contains the following: "The recent action of the railroad companies in cutting freight rates on the transcontinental roads has had a demoralizing effect on the markets here by unsettling values. Fixed and uniform rates of freight are most desirable; extreme low rates are adverse to the manufacturing interests of the coast which are in their infancy and to a certain extent experimental but favorable to the fruit, fish, wine and many other interests. The present discriminating course is generally unsatisfactory to the business community. The local coffee market has been less active but prices remained steady. There has also been a lessened eastern demand, the sales for the week for overland shipment aggregating only 400 bags. Rumors of war among the coffee producing districts of Central America may soon have the effect of increasing values and lessening supplies from those countries. The total imports of coffee from four of those states for 1884 was 15,278,268 pounds. The local tea market has not yet been materially affected by the advance which is reported in the foreign and eastern markets, and which in Japan is nearly 50 per cent above prices ruling four months since. The rates

ASSOCIATED PRESS MARKETS

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET

NEW YORK, March 18.—Governments strong and dull except 4 per cents, which were ⅛ lower. In railways there was only a odd rate business and some of the more active issues show further decline. Stocks were irregular, at times quite feverish and decidedly more active than for several days past. The weakest spots in the market were Pacific Mail and Union Pacific, which declined heavily on reports of threatened trouble between the two companies. It was reported this morning that the Union Pacific had given official notice to the Pacific Mail of discontinuance of the contract by which the former received a monthly subsidy from the Pacific railroads of $95,000. According to the terms of the contract it can be terminated only on six months' notice, except by mutual consent. The Central Pacific is charged with diverting business over the Sunset route, and the present troubles are thought to grow out of a disagreement between the Pacific railroads fully as much or more than out of any misunderstanding between the Pacific Mail [illegible] and the Union Pacific. Pacific Mail was [illegible] highest at the opening, when it sold at 60⅝ [illegible] at 5[illegible]¾, a loss of 2⅝ [illegible] of [illegible] shares. Union [illegible] [illegible] feverish all day and showed a net [illegible] of 1½ with sales of [illegible] shares. [illegible] short interest in these two largely increased today [illegible] here was also considerable realizing by outside bulls in Pacific Mail.

Central Pacific was also weak on light dealings, declining 1½. The break in the market [illegible] brought in fresh buyers, and bulls and bears are realizing over the increase of [illegible] promised. Leading bulls express a belief that the market may sell somewhat lower but that the decline will be followed by a decided reaction at an early day. The Gould party say Gould is now in Charleston and is expected here this week. They claim the full campaign will be started soon after his return.

The Chicago, St Paul, Minneapolis and Omaha road has declared a quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent on preferred stock. After the next quarterly dividend declaration of dividends will be made semi-annually.

There was little interest in the mining market. Bulwer sold at 35, Central Arizona 22, Horn Silver $[illegible]@2 40, Eureka $3 60 and Standard $1.
